Why Use a Registered Emissions Repair Facility?

If your vehicle failed the emissions inspection, a registered Emissions Repair Facility can help prepare your vehicle for reinspection.

Proven professionals – These technicians are highly successful in repairing vehicles in order for them to pass their emissions re-test.

Trained – These professionally-trained technicians have been registered with the MVC and have also completed specialized courses in emissions repairs.

Quick Checklist

- ✓ 1. Get Repairs
(Emission Repair Facility or Self)

- ✓ 2. Complete ERF Paperwork

- ✓ 3. Bring Forms Back for Reinspection

That's It!

My Vehicle Failed the Emissions inspection

...what should I do?

What if my vehicle failed the emissions inspection?

If your vehicle fails inspection, a red REJECTED sticker is placed on the windshield above the current inspection sticker.

IMPORTANT NOTICE:

Vehicles must be properly maintained at all times. Law enforcement can issue you a summons whenever you drive a vehicle that has failed inspection. Red, failed inspection stickers do not prevent citations.

Inspection Report

You will receive a Vehicle Inspection Report (VIR) that will help to identify the reason(s) for failure and also how much time you have to make repairs.

Emissions Repairs

If your vehicle fails for emissions violations, you must either have the repairs completed by a registered Emissions Repair Facility or you may make them yourself. Motorists can locate an Emissions Repair Facility by using our online search at www.njinspections.com or by calling 1-888-NJ-MOTOR (1-888-656-6867).

Along with your VIR, you will also receive an Emissions Repair Form (ERF) when your vehicle fails an inspection.

You will need both these items when you return for reinspection.

PLEASE NOTE:

If your vehicle failed the emissions inspection, it is producing more pollutants than the standard for its model year - check if it is still under warranty and contact the vehicle manufacturer.

Timing

If your vehicle fails inspection, you have up to one month from the last day of the month indicated on the inspection sticker to make repairs and return for reinspection. (N.J.A.C. 13:20-7.5). Vehicles overdue for inspection do not receive additional time to make necessary repairs (N.J.A.C. 13:20-43.12). Your vehicle may still be cited at any time by law enforcement for equipment out of compliance or failure to make repairs.

Reinspection

Your vehicle can be reinspected at a State Inspection Facility or a Private Inspection Facility. To find a state-operated inspection station or a private facility in your area, motorists can visit:
