Commissioner Librera Addresses "High Schools that Work"

Commissioner of Education William L. Librera today spoke at the Conference on High Schools that Work, held this morning at Masso's Crystal Manor in Glassboro. In his prepared remarks, the Commissioner highlighted a key ingredient for Governor James E. McGreevey's 21-point education reform plan.

"Diverse paths to student success are very high on the McGreevey administration's education agenda, and this is a very well-established program for career-bound students," the Commissioner said in his prepared remarks.
